FRENCH FRAUDS RECALLED

Woman Convict Passes

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Paris, July 19.
Madame Martha Hanan who defrauded French investors to the tune of over half a milliard francs in the years 1927 and 28, died in the women's prison at Fresnes on Friday after a lengthy illness.

Hanan was formerly the publisher of the Gazette du France, and subsequently published a financial paper from the prison up to the time of her death.

In the course of her chequered and hectic financial career Hanan was involved in countless lawsuits, but pursued questionable enterprises and unabated vigour despite the many reverses in judgments and criticisms.

On one occasion she was the talk of Paris when she escaped by night from the hospital where she was under supervision of the Police, afterwards phoning the Police personally from a cafe, informing them of the fact. Later she was convicted for fraudulent bankruptcy, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment by the Court of Appeal which thus increased the original sentence of two years.

Owing to the rumours that Hanan's death was the result of an attempt at suicide committed on July 14, the State prosecutor has ordered an official inquiry into the case of her death and a post-mortem examination on her body.

FOREIGN RESIDENTS IN ABYSSINIA

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Addis Ababa, July 19.
All provisions have been made for the security of foreigners in Abyssinia in case of an outbreak, declared the Emperor in a statement on Friday, renewing the assurance that foreign residents might safely remain in the country.

The foreign Minister also issues a statement to the effect that the Emperor's speech on Thursday apparently did not make sufficient clear that Abyssinia will refuse not only Italian Mandate, but also Mandate of any other foreign power. This impressive incident marked the conclusion of His Highness's important pronouncement in the densely packed Parliament on Thursday.

During the storm of applause which greeted the Emperor's last words "Your Emperor would rather fight to die with his people, than give up freedom," the leader of the Muslim Minority sprang up and spontaneously declared that Emperor Haile Selassie's Mohammedan subjects would fight shoulder to shoulder with their Christian fellow countrymen. This declaration on the part of the Muslim leader is considered here to finally dispose of all rumours that the Mohammedan Abyssinians would desert in the event of war.

The British Minister had a two hours' conversation with the Foreign Minister on Friday in the course of which it is stated that the Italian questions in the frontier were discussed.

AIR DEFENCE

Annual Exercises To Begin

London, July 19.

The annual air defence exercises will begin next Monday evening with a raid by day bombers, belonging to the "Southland" forces, on London, which will be defended by fighters of the "Northland" forces.

Operations in which over 370 aircraft—day and night bombers and single-seater and two-seater fighters—will take part, will be carried out in two main phases: the first lasting 14 hours and the second, commencing Tuesday evening and continuing over 60 hours, during which there will be one period of 48 hours continuous exercises.

The daylight raid on Monday will be followed by a night attack in which the latest types of bombers will be used. All main targets will be in the London area since exercises as in former years are concerned with the problem of air defence of the capital.

The ground organisation of defence, which will include anti-aircraft batteries, searchlights and sound detecting apparatus, will be strengthened by territorial units. Under arrangement announced on June 15 last, eight London battalions of the Territorial Army have agreed to conversion into anti-aircraft defence units.

FRONT FIGHTERS LEAGUE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, July 19.

Following closely on the heels of the recent dissolution of the local branches of the National Socialist German front fighters league, formerly the Steelhelmet in Baden and Brunswick, it is now announced that under the Reich President's decree of 1933 for the protection of the state and people, all branches of that organisation and its property have been confiscated in the administrative districts of Breslau, Liegnitz, Oppeln and the Prussian province of Silesia.

Similar measures were also taken by the authorities in Thuringia where according to an official announcement several leading members of the Front Fighters League formerly the Steelhelmet were taken into protective custody in the internal concentration camp at Bad Sulza.

Furthermore a decree has been issued by the Thuringian home ministry forbidding the wearing of badges or uniform or dress indicating membership of the Steelhelmet organisation, and prohibiting all meetings for rallies of that organisation as well as the displaying of the organisations flags on buildings.

The decree states that these are attributable to "actions directed against the authority of the state, and to the circulation of false reports calculated to discredit the state as well as to holding some party formations up to contempt."

PROCESSING TAX TO BE REPAYED?

Washington, July 19.

After a two day debate of the Administration's proposed A.A.A. amendment, providing recovery suits in respect of the processing taxes, the Senate finally adopted a compromise bill which provides that the tax on the consumer or producer.

Should this version finally prevail, it would especially benefit the tobacco industry, which has been the subject of the processing tax since the passage of the A.A.A. bill.

EMULATING HANNIBAL

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berne, July 19.

An elephant, which is to assume the leading role in the American novelist Halliburton's attempt to emulate Hannibal by crossing the Alps on top of a pachyderm, arrived here on Friday at Martigny at the base of the Grand St. Bernard pass, from where Halliburton intends to set out on his adventurous journey.

Since the Italian and Swiss authorities have granted the enterprising American a free passage, Halliburton intends to leave Martigny with his elephant on Saturday or Sunday, proceeding by easy stages across the Alps to Pisa and finally to Rome, the trip taking probably thirty five days if all goes well.

The World's Finest Tires

Extra mileage, extra safety and extra value—you could not ask more of a tire than these. They represent all that a tire can give—and account for the leadership of ROYALS in every corner of the world.

- MILEAGE. Think of how tempered steel compares with ordinary steel—and then you will understand the advantage of "Tempered Rubber," your ordinary tire. It is this tough, specially compounded rubber in the tread, and the extra thickness of the tread, that keeps ROYALS on the wheels of your car thousands of miles after ordinary tires would be worn out and thrown away.
- SAFETY. The makers of ROYALS have worked hard to help reduce accidents caused by skidding and blow-outs. The massive blocks that make up the ROYAL tread have the same sure grip on the road as cogs on a cog wheel. And beneath the tread—right through to the heart of the tire—strong cotton cords and rubber are combined in an exclusive manner that makes blow-outs almost impossible.
- EXTRA VALUES. Unless you have driven on ROYALS, these "extra values" may come as a surprise. You will find that ROYAL tires are so good looking they improve the appearance of your car. And perhaps more important—they give such excellent service that you can be proud to tell your friends, "I always drive on ROYALS."

Ask for "ROYALS" the next time you buy!

DEMONSTRATIONS IN FRANCE

Foreigners Involved To Be Expelled

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, July 21. The Home Ministry announces that a total of fifteen hundred and thirty five persons were arrested in the course of a protest demonstration on Friday night, this number including eighteen foreigners who will be expelled from France in accordance with a warning issued previously.

A great majority of the arrested persons meanwhile have been released after their identity was established.

NO SERIOUS INCIDENTS

Paris, July 20. The protest demonstrations against the decree laws held by civil servants and pensioners yesterday afternoon passed off without serious incidents owing to the thorough precautionary measures taken by the authorities, though the police were forced to arrest some 1,200 demonstrators, the majority of whom, however, were released during the night.

From the early afternoon a large police force, reinforced by "Garde Mobile" detachments on foot and on horseback, took up positions in and near the Place de l'Opera and other important traffic centres. Shortly after six o'clock a small group of malcontents began to form in the streets leading to the Place de l'Opera behind the police barrage.

These rapidly increased to a dense wall of shouting and singing demonstrators, who, however, were admirably handled by the police, who showed perfect discipline and great determination.

MOB DISPERSED

Detachments of the steel-helmeted "Garde Mobile" gradually drove back the demonstrators and dispersed them without using their batons or other arms. Uniformed police and plainclothes men from time to time seized the noisiest demonstrators and took them to patrol cars standing in readiness.

A number of demonstrators attempting to erect a barricade in the Boulevard Haussmann before the famous department store Ga-leries Lafayette were driven off by a mounted detachment of the "Garde Mobile," which quickly dispersed the crowd there without meeting resistance. By 8 o'clock the streets of the capital had been cleared, and spasmodic attempts to resume the demonstration were quickly prevented by energetic police action.

The total number of demonstrators in the central part of the city was estimated at between 15 and 20 thousand, the majority of whom were Communists.

The demonstration may have serious consequences for civil service employees caught in the act of participation, since the Government signified its intention of applying the most rigorous measures against those disobeying the edict prohibiting open-air manifestation.

ORDER RESTORED

Paris, July 19. During the demonstration of some thousands of civil servants here to-night, who held a mass meeting in protest against the contemplated economies of the Government which involve cuts in their salaries, about 1,000 arrests were made, according to the Prefecture of Police.

The Government has previously given warning that it would not tolerate strikes on the part of civil servants. Strikers would be replaced by unemployed workers, the Government stated.

The demonstration of the civil servants, in the neighbourhood of the Place de l'Opera ended at a few minutes past eight to-night without any grave incidents having occurred. But five hundred were arrested early in the evening.

Six thousand mounted police and ordinary gendarmes were on duty in the area.

The demonstrators sang the "Internationale" and shouted Communist slogans. Traffic was temporarily held up.

Order, however, was quickly restored following repeated police charges.

HAPSBURG MONARCHY AND HEIMWEHR

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Vienna, July 20. The Clerical monarchist paper "Volksblatt" has published a report of a meeting of the local Heimwehr detachment at Innsbruck, Tyrol, which appears to show that the idea of the restoration of the monarchy, of which Prince von Starheimberg is one of the leading exponents, is not being met with enthusiasm by the Prince's own Heimwehr.

According to the paper the leader of the Innsbruck Storm detachment named Schober declared in the course of a speech that many patriotic persons were opposed to the idea of the Hapsburg monarchy, and that many members of Heimwehr strongly object to being looked upon as wanting in patriotism or even as traitors because they do not sympathise with this idea as others do.

Schober added that the Heimwehr, moreover, protested against the machinations of certain legitimist circles, who are openly aiming at breaking up the Heimwehr in order to realise their ambitions.

EXPLOSIVES LAW SENTENCE

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Vienna, July 19.

Another death sentence for offence against the explosives law was passed by the Court of Assizes at Ried on a Social democrat named Otto Reisl who some months ago threw some wire over a high tension cable, thereby causing the town of Eberschwang-Ried to be plunged into darkness and affording the socialists the opportunity of distributing leaflets of an inflammatory character.

Reisl was subsequently arrested and a search of his dwelling brought to light large stores of arms and explosives.

EMPOWERING LAW IN SPAIN

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Madrid, July 20.

An empowering law to enable the Finance Minister to take all the necessary steps to put the State finances in order has been passed by the Cortes.

The problem to be solved is the removal of a deficit of 750,000,000 pesetas on the total State expenditure of 4.8 milliards of pesetas. The Government proposes to achieve this partly by retrenchment and partly by appropriate measures for economic revitalisation, whereby the State revenues will be increased. The Government firmly intends to carry out agricultural and electoral reforms.

The State 4 per cent. loans reached 79.5 yesterday, which is the highest quotation since 1913, when it was 80.82.

RETRENCHMENT IN DANZIG

Currency Protection Measure

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Danzig, July 20.

The great programme of retrenchment and wholesale economy announced by the Senate some weeks ago as essential for the maintenance of the stability of the Danzig guilder has now been put into effect, despite systematic obstruction from the opposition parties.

For instance, a large number of retired State officials who are entitled to pensions partly from Danzig and partly from the Reich, and who draw altogether sums amounting to 16,000,000 guilders, are being induced to leave Danzig and return to the Reich.

Those who do so will receive full pensions in Reichsmarks, irrespective of the depreciation of the Danzig guilder, whereas those who insist on remaining in Danzig will lose their pensions from the Reich because of transfer difficulties and must accept the full disadvantages of the currency depreciation on the Danzig part of their incomes.

The result of the announcement of the necessity for making a choice is that many families are preparing to set up new homes just across the nearby frontier at Marienburg or in East Prussia. In this way the Reich is relieved of certain transfer embarrassments and the Danzig Senate economises since the full pensions are paid by the Reich.

No compulsion is being exercised and the choice remains open until September 30, but those who choose to return to the Reich will also receive financial assistance to defray the costs of removal.

MORE THAN A JOKE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

A Joke now current in Berlin is said to have influenced Dr. Goebbels in banning the "Easter Nachrichten."

The large circulation of this Swiss paper in Germany inspired a Berlin Jester.

He told the story that in A.D. 3000 archaeologists came to the ruins of long destroyed cities. One proved especially puzzling, until they found a board of newspapers of the years 1934 and 1935.

"At last," they said, "we know where we are. This was once Baste."

REVERSING A LAW OF NATURE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

In sending back Scottish Office officials to Scotland, Sir Godfrey Collins is responsible for a reversal of the usual process of nature, which draws Scotsmen to England.

Over 80 have already been sent to Edinburgh to carry on local administration work which used to be done in Whitehall.

As part of a set policy, another 44 Civil Servants will go North after the summer.

In November the work of building the new "Scottish Whitehall" on the Calton Hill site in Edinburgh will begin.

To show that he is not imposing on Civil Servants an exile in their own country which he is not willing to share, Sir Godfrey Collins is looking for suitable buildings in the precincts of Edinburgh Castle for his own use.

ON A GOOD WICKET

Review By Mr. Baldwin

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

To borrow a phrase from cricket, Mr. Baldwin was on a good wicket when he reviewed four years of National Government at Leeds on Saturday. He had no difficulty in showing that this country has recovered more fully and at a greater pace than any other country in the world. And there is nothing accidental about that progress. It did not take place of itself, but had to be contrived by the co-operative work of men and women of all parties acting in concert. The great majority by which the Government was raised to power was not won by flattery or smooth sayings. The General Election was fought on promises of retrenchment and economies, and the British people won the admiration of the world by the way in which they sacrificed immediate private interest to national necessities.

AS YOU WERE

Sooner or later discipline begins to offer its dividends, and, as a plain demonstration of better times, the restoration of the second half of the economy cuts of four years ago falls due to-day. A further sign is a rise in industrial wages, and Great Britain enters upon the holiday season in a mood of hopefulness that augurs well for the future. "People are saying everywhere that things are a lot better," said Mr. Baldwin. As for future policy, the Prime Minister hints at an autumn programme for a new fields for enterprise and investment are definitely opening out. Scotland in particular has much to hope from "a certain liveliness" to be detected in the iron and steel industries.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE

It will be no surprise to those who have studied the latter day methods of Mr. Lloyd George that the lack of candour in his latest campaign is involving him in trouble with the stalwarts of the Free Churches. In so far as the Council of Action is devoted to whipping up the National Government horses Mr. Lloyd George may look for a wide measure of support. But his campaign is ambiguous, and many of those who are willing to help have no love for ambiguity.

OTTO'S PRAYER

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Vienna, July 20.

That the propaganda in favour of the restoration of the Hapsburgs in Austria is now going on with increased intensity is clearly indicated by reports published in the "Der Oesterreicher" the organ of the legitimists. For instance at Persenbourg in lower Austria a document in the original handwriting of Otto von Hapsburg was handed over to the burgomaster by Archduke Eugene in the presence of a great number of the Heimwehr. In this address Otto speaks of the "now awakened" Austrian people which "demands" the restoration of the monarchy under the "son of a martyred Emperor." The documents closes with "May God will that the hour of my return home should strike soon."

JAPAN'S REPLY TO SOVIET

Tokyo, July 20.

Replying to the recent Soviet protests against the alleged crossings of the frontier by Japanese troops from Manchukuo and Manchukuo gunboats along the Amur River, Mr. Koki Hirota, the Japanese Foreign Minister, declared that the charges were without foundation.

He said: "The Japanese Government finds it difficult to comprehend the real motives of the Soviet Government in directing unwarranted abuse against the Japanese authorities in Manchukuo, and moreover apparently seeking to attract wide attention by giving sensational publicity to exaggerated misinformation in that connection. In the interests of friendly relations the Japanese Government deeply regrets the attitude of the Soviet Government."

MANY FLEE

As River Bursts Dykes

Tainan, July 14.

The further rise of the Yellow River, in western Shantung, due to incessant rains, has widened the various breaches of the river dykes in the Tungchuan area in Chuangcheng. One large gap is over 2,000 feet wide. The flood waters are pouring into country-side.

Yuncheng has been hardest hit, with nearly the entire district under water. Thousands of inhabitants dwelling in the path of the onrushing waters are fleeing for their lives.

The situation in Hotse (Tsoachow) district has been aggravated in consequence of the collapse of a portion of the river dykes and the extension of the flood waters from Chuangcheng.

Several portions of the embankments at the upper reaches of the Yellow River in Shouchang and Fanhsien have been damaged. Reports of flood are also pouring in from the districts in Kinsiang and Yutai in south-western Shantung.

Mr. Chiang Lien-chia, Director of the Provincial River Affairs Bureau, and Mr. Han Tu-feng, adviser to the Provincial Government, have arrived at the Tungchow-Linpu area to supervise the flood prevention work.

SHANTUNG PRECAUTIONS

Tainan, July 14.

In order to prevent the overflowing of the Yellow River and to avoid the flow of the river water into the Grand Canal, the Shantung Provincial authorities have ordered the various district governments along the canal to build two embankments.

The projected dykes, it is learned, will be 10 metres high and 30 metres wide. Able bodied men in the districts are ordered to con-

The Secret Police announce that the Reich Chamber of Culture and the State Commissar, Herr Hinckel, have approved of the dissolution of three artists' associations which, despite repeated warnings, persist in harbouring subversive elements. The associations are the International Artists' Lodge in Berlin, the International Circus Directors' Union in Berlin, and the professional Association of German Artists in Berlin.

THE WOMAN IN RED

"The Woman in Red," Barbara Stanwyck's latest starring vehicle for First National Pictures, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Alhambra Theatre on Wednesday. The picture is based on Wallace Irwin's popular novel, "North Shore," which is a glamorous romance with intensely dramatic scenes and replete with thrills.

The story deals with the romance of a young aristocratic Kentucky girl, portrayed by Miss Stanwyck, who through family financial reverses, becomes a professional rider at society horse shows. She meets Gene Raymond in the role of a son of a blue-blooded Long Island family, also impoverished. It is love at first sight with both of them. But Miss Stanwyck's employer, a part played by Genevieve Tobin, is herself madly in love with Raymond, and vows to break up the match between Miss Stanwyck and Raymond.

John Eldredge has the role of a wealthy man of the world, a rival rider of Miss Stanwyck with whom he is madly infatuated. Miss Stanwyck, while in love with her own husband, is deeply indebted to the other man, and indiscreetly boards his yacht to help him out in a business deal. There is an accident in which a girl is drowned and Eldredge is held for murder.

WOMAN IN THE DARK

A woman who found the price demanded for a career too high to pay is the central character in Lashell Hammett's fast moving drama, "Woman in the Dark," a Select Production.

In this exciting story of dangerous romance, which comes to the King's Theatre on Tuesday, Fay Wray portrays the beautiful Louise Loring who borrows money to further her studies as a concert singer. When her debut is a financial failure she learns that Robson, the man who advanced her the money, regards it not as a loan, but as an investment.

A familiar situation in itself, when linked to the swiftly-moving developments that follow, it adds a "problem" note to thrilling cinematic fare.

The action that follows when Louise, fleeing from Robson's house, seeks refuge with John Bradley, a man on parole after serving a prison term for manslaughter is breathless with suspense. As Bradley, Ralph Bellamy has one of the finest characterizations of his career. Together with Miss Wray and Melvyn Douglas, who plays the suave, polished Robson, he completes a trio of notables heading a distinguished cast in which Roscoe Ates, well known screen stuttermaster, affords the comic relief Bates are also featured.

VAGABOND LADY

At The Queen's

A highly entertaining comedy drama that is sure to satisfy is "Vagabond Lady," which had its initial showings at the Queen's Theatre yesterday.

Tony Spear is an embarrassing responsibility to his dignified father and brother but to Josephine Higgins, his brother's fiancée, he is a delightful companion.

The elder Spear is the millionaire owner of a departmental store while Josephine's father, an irresponsible character, is Head Janitor of the store and a former college mate of "the boss." After a cruise round the world Tony arrives at the homestead and sets up many a complication, some of which were humorous and at times dramatic.

When "Jo" and Tony discover that they love each other things take a rapid turn. Then, grief results in consequence of the upsetting of an appointment by Tony's sailors. Then when John and Jo are about to be married Jo's habit of chewing gum upsets the wedding ceremony and everything ends happily.

The part of the irresponsible "Tony" is played by Robert Young who is excellent. Evelyn Venable was great as the beautiful and likeable "Jo" and Reginald Denny was good as the dignified "John."

Others in the cast of this entertaining picture are Berton Churchill and Frank Craven.—O. M. O.

WENDY BARRIE

Great Hollywood
Debut

The current attraction at the King's Theatre, "It's A Small World" should have a special appeal for local cinema fans in that the leading role is taken by none other than pretty Wendy Barrie, formerly of Hong Kong, who, in her first American picture, maintains the promise she has shown in her British productions. The picture incidentally marks Miss Barrie's Hollywood debut, and a very successful one too!

Miss Barrie plays opposite Spencer Tracy and although striking up an acquaintanceship through a head-on collision (they were both driving cars) is not an everyday affair, it proved to be rather successful this time in that Tracy finally wins the affection of the fair lady albeit, the start was none too promising.

We all know that Spencer Tracy is the type of player who likes to do everything in a whirlwind fashion. His "rush" tactics are tempered by the calm and cool way in which Miss Barrie handles her part and that is perhaps why the picture is the success it turned out to be.

The pair team exceedingly well together and it is to be hoped that more Tracy-Barrie productions will come our way.

Preceding the feature film are two very interesting shorts and to put the matter in a nutshell, the programme now offered by the King's Theatre is up to the standard of all "King's" shows—excellent.—F. Mela.

THE ALHAMBRA

I Am A Thief

Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez are in the leading roles of "I Am A Thief," the latest melodrama mystery thriller which opened at the Alhambra yesterday to crowded houses.

The picture is based on a story by Ralph Block and Louis Malloy and recounts the breath-taking adventures of a band of international jewel robbers who plot to steal an almost priceless set of diamonds known as "the Kareninas."

These diamonds are used by the secret service operatives as a bait to catch a gang of jewel thieves, and the adventures that follow as a result of this move are recorded in a thrilling manner. Heading an all-star cast, Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez are shown as a beautiful and cultured woman and a gentleman of evident wealth. They are brought together when the latter, the first purchaser of the diamonds, is pursued by Mary Astor who has made a vow to get the jewels by hook or by crook. The complication that ensue and their ultimate entanglement made a very entertaining show.—Redin-cam.

HIS OWN ARCHITECT

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

Herr Hitler, I hear, plans to spend most of his summer at Haus Wachenfeld, his chalet near Berchtesgaden, in Southern Bavaria, writes a correspondent. It is now being greatly enlarged according to the Fuehrer's own designs.

Herr Hitler's dual function of President and Chancellor placed some difficulties at first in the way of a long summer vacation.

To avoid the necessity of frequent journeys to Berlin the Leader has decided to move part of his Chancellery and Presidential staff to Bad Reichenhall, 20 miles from Berchtesgaden.

WON BY FOUR SECONDS

Exciting Finish To
T.T. Contest

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

Stanley Woods, riding an Italian Guzzi motor-cycle, yesterday won the Senior Tourist Trophy Race in the Isle of Man at a record speed of 84.68 m.p.h., the time taken over the 284 miles course being 3 hr. 7 min. 10 sec.

J. Guthrie, on a Norton, was second—3 hours 7 minutes 14 seconds (84.65 m.p.h.); and W. F. Rusk, also on a Norton, came next in 3 hours 9 minutes 45 seconds (83.53 m.p.h.).

With only four seconds dividing the winner and runner-up, the final lap of the race developed into a terrific duel between the two riders.

Guthrie was leading Stanley Woods by 26 seconds when he entered his last lap, and Woods, by refusing to stop to replenish, was obviously risking everything. There was considerable danger of his running out of petrol, but he decided to take this risk rather than to spend time in refuelling. The leaders at the end of the sixth lap were:—

1. Guthrie (Norton), 84.61 m.p.h.
2. Stanley Woods (Guzzi), 84.38 m.p.h.

3. Rusk (Norton), 83.50 m.p.h. Guthrie finished the course in 3 hours 7 minutes 14 seconds, or 3 minutes 21 seconds better than the record set up by Stanley Woods in 1933. It seemed that not even such a famous "ace" as Woods could possibly better that record.

EVERY RECORD BEATEN

When Guthrie finished, Stanley Woods was reported at Ramsey, more than half way round the course, pushing his machine to its last ounce to try and make up the 26 seconds arrears.

The last lap produced the most amazing riding and the most exciting finish in the history of the T.T. and probably of motor cycling. Minute by minute the crowd waited in suspense and at last Woods flashed over the finishing line. Rapidly the timekeepers made their calculations, and announced that Woods had won! By smashing every record to smithereens Woods had not only made up the seconds he was behind, but had actually beaten Guthrie by four seconds—the narrowest margin by which victory has ever been gained in these races. His speed on the last lap was 86.53 m.p.h.

Thus for the second time this week the Tourist Trophy fell to the Italian Guzzi. On Wednesday Woods, riding one of these machines, won the lightweight. This is the first time since 1911 that the Senior T.T. has gone abroad.

The news of Woods' spectacular win spread like wildfire and was greeted everywhere with astonishment. Not even the most experienced motor cycling "fan" had believed such a feat possible.

In the State Chancellery, it is at present supervising the move in. An admirably built motor road connecting the two towns will be completed at the end of this month. Haus Wachenfeld is about two miles from a steep mountain side from Bad Reichenhall, and the road is closed to ordinary motor traffic.

REVIVAL OF FAITH

World Turns Again
To Religion

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

The world, its faith in material things broken at last, is "turning God-hungry to religion," and in this revival, Britain, led by her young men and girls, is waiting to take her part.

Youth's interest in religion is growing. Manchester brought its business to a standstill, closed its Exchange, the largest in the world, while 18,000 of the city's children walked in procession through its streets singing Hosannas.

Youth, indeed, as Professor Gilbert Murray, delivering the Romanes Lecture at Oxford, said, has before it "a great crusade, a heroic future."

Last night prominent Churchpeople spoke of their belief in this renewal of faith.

DISAPPOINTED WORLD

General Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army, back in England after a 42,000-miles tour, declared:—
"We are living in a God-hungry world disappointed in material things. The enterprises into which people have put their trust have failed, and that, coupled with the aftermath of a war, the terrible depression and the loss of businesses and money, has turned people to God."

"The soul of man is seeking for a truth which can be depended upon in the storm and stress of life as well in its more peaceful seasons."

The Rev. A. Welleley Orr, Vicar of St. Paul's Church, Kingston

Hill, Kingston, said there were signs that the lalty were ready almost to carry the clergy along with them.

"It is hardly a question of being led or even driven; they are inclined almost to go ahead on their own," he said.

QUESTIONING YOUTH

"Young people are far more interested in religion than would appear on the surface. They are showing not only a tremendous interest, but are also inclined to ask questions."

"I think there are definite signs of a revival—if not of world wide revival—in this country. There is that feeling in the hearts of men."

Travelling over Britain with Dr. Norwood during the past twelve months, the Rev. S. W. Hughes, secretary of the National Council of Evangelical Free Churches, has been astonished by the eagerness of the young people.

"It is only a question of time before the prayers of the faithful will be answered, and then there will be a general manifestation. I feel that youth will play a great part in the revival," he said.

MOVE TO SERIOUSNESS

And Father Woodcock, of Farmstreet Roman Catholic Church, told of "a growing and noticeable move to seriousness, which can be interpreted as a hunger for religion in a larger proportion of young people than there was ten years ago."

This was the message to Britain's young people in Professor Gilbert Murray's lecture:—

"Be ready," he said. "Face your problems, and even your wrongs with reason, and not with rage. See that the mere indulgences of sense get no hold upon you. Resolve that the powers of the world shall neither intimidate or bribe you."

"Use or give up your life for something that is more precious than life, then you will play your part in one of the greatest movements of human history."

CARNIVAL

Lee Tracy And Sally Eilers

The next picture that comes to the Queen's Theatre will be a real treat for those who care for films of the comedy-romance type, for in "Carnival," featuring Lee Tracy and Sally Eilers, not forgetting our old friend Schnozzle Durante, there is plenty of comedy as well as romance.

Lee Tracy plays the role of a carnival man and when his wife, the grandparents get a court order restraining Tracy to take the child away as they maintain that a carnival is no fit place to bring up a child. The father is so attached to his son that he manages to steal the little one from the grandparents and disappears.

The call of the carnival, however, is too strong, and two years later we find Chick (Tracy) back in the carnival business though this time he has changed his name. Daisy (played by Sally Eilers) is overjoyed to see Chick and his boy, and from this stage onwards the picture is full of comedy and also a goodly share of romance. The ending finds Dick and Daisy happily married and the little boy too is happy with his new mother. From this stage onwards the picture and should on no account be missed by those who want entertainment of a high standard.

PERRY AND PERRY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 12.

There is evidently something of peculiar virtue in the syllables "Perry." While Mr. F. J. Perry, the holder of the British Lawn Tennis Singles, has once more been going from strength to strength at Wimbledon, his near-namesake, Alfred Perry, the Leam-therhead golf professional, has won the British Open Golf Championship at Muirfield with a record last round. For 10 years our Open Golf Championship was carried off each season by a competitor from across the Atlantic. Last year Henry Cotton relieved it for Britain with a score of 283 for the four rounds, which had never been beaten and only once equalled on a championship course. Now Alfred Perry has again captured the Championship Cup for Britain with the same total.

Golf is, as many players below championship form well know, a combination of skill, luck and will-power. Alfred Perry has clearly a full gift of all three, particularly of will-power, by which he taught himself to play right-handed, after training as a left-handed player. At the beginning of the week he only just got through the qualifying rounds with two strokes to spare, and was 11 strokes behind the holder, Henry Cotton; yesterday he beat Cotton's remarkable score in the qualifying rounds by two strokes. Our Test match selectors, struck by these omens, may well be searching the country for other members of the Perry family to devote their talents to cricket. Meanwhile, a Perryless but otherwise most promising English eleven will face to-day a South African team not yet beaten in this country and determined to break the tradition that South Africa does not win Test matches here.

SLOW SCORING AT LORD'S

Sims Takes Eight Wickets

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

There was barracking in the match between M.C.C. and Cambridge University—an unusual occurrence at headquarters. First it was polite, a round or two of ironic applause, but it grew into sarcastic clapping at every stroke, and in the end became vocal.

The men to whom it was directed were the M.C.C. opening pair, Major Wilkinson and Bailey, who played their game oblivious of the expectations of a section of the crowd.

The pitch, almost devoid of grass, recovered quickly from the recent rains. Hot sun on it might have been expected to cause some trickiness, but the surface dried quickly and evenly, and although it lacked life it was never difficult. The Cambridge captain's judgment was sound when he elected to bat first, and again when he put on his faster bowlers at the opening of the M.C.C. innings. The University batting, however, after Hotchkin's departure mostly looked second rate. Caution was carried to excess, for Sims was the only M.C.C. bowler who bowled really well.

H. D. Read, the Essex amateur, certainly bowled fast, but his length and direction were alike erratic. It was Sims, however, who wrought the havoc with his slow well-flighted leg-breaks. Most of the University men were unable to time him.

The M.C.C. were not allowed to get the first innings lead without a struggle. At tea-time they had lost three wickets for 57 runs—in exactly ninety minutes. The fourth and fifth wickets fell at 66 and 77. Then four wickets went down for 2 runs. With the total at 103, Jahangir Khan slackened his pace, and at last found a length. At that figure he clean bowled Webster, while Cameron bowled Fairservice without addition to the score. One run later Jahangir Khan broke through Comber's defence, and his very next ball clean bowled Baring.

LEAGUE MEETING
SPECULATION

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Geneva, July 19.

An announcement that preparations are being made for a special meeting of the League Council on July 29 to deal with the Abyssinian issue, is giving rise to some speculation.

It is, however, generally anticipated that the meeting, if actually come about, will be of short duration, since the Council will probably content itself with the appointment of a fifth member of the arbitration commission if four other members should fail to reach an agreement as to the selection of a fifth arbitrator.

This procedure has been provided for by the resolution of May 25, and it is expected that the Council will carefully refrain from entering into the discussion upon the merits of the case, since the appointment of the fifth arbitrator automatically adjourns the matter till August 25 when the League Council, in accordance with the resolution will have to reassume to examine the situation provided that a settlement by means of conciliation or arbitration has not taken place by then. This will give diplomats more time to continue their search for the compromise formula by which war may be prevented.

BERLIN DISORDERS

Berlin, July 19.

Flying squads were again called out to-night to deal with fresh anti-Jewish disturbances. A number of arrests resulted.

Crowds paraded the streets shouting "Down with the Jews," and supposed Jews were dragged from cafes in the West End, and beaten. Others sought safety in flight.

The Police kept the crowds moving and dispersed the rioters. The newspaper "Anglist" publishes a strong editorial against all opposition forces in the country.

It declares that the era of patience and the magnanimous attitude of the Government has come to an end, and that the capital of the Reich will be purged with an iron fist of all opposition elements.

SALUTE TO COVENT GARDEN

It would be pardonable if we were to turn away from the cares and problems of this workaday world and pay tribute to Covent Garden for it was indeed a feat to be proud of to have been able to produce a season of Grand Opera in these impoverished times. Great credit goes to Sir Thomas Beecham and his colleagues; to add Russian Ballet to Grand Opera resulted in a season worthy of this Jubilee Year, while it might be mentioned also that it was a clever move to bring Miss Grace Moors to the Garden so soon after her success on the screen. It is no light matter to produce either opera or ballet for it involves labour and expense, of which the greater part of the audience is blissfully unaware. Like orchids, both arts require hot-house cultivation but it would be futile for us to even try to estimate which is the more costly, though it might be mentioned that neither is a commercial proposition. In the great days of Serge Diaghileff the Russian Ballet cost £4,000 a week and when that Master died there were many who feared that his art was fated to die with him. "It was in its essence," said Mr. Propert, "an exotic and costly survival from the days of the great courts and wealthy patrons." So is the case of the Opera, for one might have expected them to share the eclipse of the Hapsburgs and Romanoffs, of Vienna and St. Petersburg.

Both of them, however, are still very much alive, due to the overwhelming appeal they both make to the heart and soul of humanity, in Sadler's Wells no less than in Covent Garden and sometimes it would be difficult to judge which of the two arts makes the stronger appeal. In the one the master motive is music, in the other dancing—both very old and very strong in their sway over the human heart. It would only be natural to suppose that they both depend on rhythm, but they have one thing in common in that they are both a combination of several arts and they both appeal to two senses as the artist combines with the musician to captivate the eye as well as the ear. Colour, movement, and sound all work in harmony together to produce their exciting, entrancing and overpowering effect, and as it is possible that dancing is more elemental than music, the Ballet is perhaps more popular than the opera. General opinion has it that the sway of the one is more simple than the other and it is for that reason, perhaps, that the favourite ballet enjoys a longer run than the favourite opera.

To the average Englishman there is something exotic in both opera and ballet. As he neither sings nor dances through life, the convention has first of all to be accepted and there are some matter-of-fact people who can never bring themselves to take that first step of acceptance to enjoyment. When we enter into this wonderful kingdom of make believe, however, it seems natural to do everything

BERLIN POLICE
WARNINGProposals By New Chief

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press"]

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received, July 21, 7.30 p.m.)

Berlin, July 21. Proposals for the "purgings in Berlin" of elements of a hostile state" were outlined by the newly appointed police president Count Helldorf in an interview given to a press correspondent of the semi-official Voelkische Beobachter.

After mentioning about the conference which took place on Friday under the aegis of Dr. Goebbels between the civic authorities, police officials and the leaders of the Berlin district of the National Socialist party and the Brown-shirt detachments, Helldorf emphasised the necessity for less friction and positive co-operation between these bodies.

"It is not possible," stated Helldorf, "that in the German capital in which the nation's leader resides and where all the ministries are situated for the police to work other than in the closest association with the National Socialist party and particularly with the administration of the Berlin district. My appointment as police president sets me the task, apart from combating certain Jewish circles, of suppressing communist and reactionary movements and political catholicism."

Turning to the question of criminality in Berlin, the new Police Chief said that although there had been a great decrease since the assumption of power by nationalism there were now signs of a certain revival in crime. Helldorf stressed his intention also to proceed with the greatest severity in this connection. Rigorous measures, he concluded, will be taken against the last remnants of the underworld until finally they have been rooted out.

SEVENOAKS ELECTION

London, July 20.

Lt.-Colonel Charles Ponsonby has been elected unopposed to the division of Sevenoaks, in succession to the ex-Minister Sir Hilton Young, who has been elevated to the Peerage.

Reuter.

In dance, and everything in song, for is it not the mode of expressing the quintessence of life? It is part of the function of the stage to renew the heart by making it "as the heart of a child," and the genius in this art can make it out of the most unpromising material, and yet as there is something of the child in ballet, those are most successful, which have a relish of the fairy tale. Because, the children dance more readily and naturally than grown-ups, almost any tale of Grimm or of Hans Anderson seems to cry out to be turned into ballet, and there is a powerful appeal also in the romantic and in the strange. What the world would like is to be taken away from life and to be plunged, for a little, into the realm of dreams as in "Prince Igor," or "Scheherazade," or "L'Oiseau Feu," or "Le Lac des Cygnes."

YENTZE UNDER WATERFlood Prevention
Measures

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Nanking, July 19.

Belated reports received here to-day from railway circles reveal an unprecedented flood tragedy in Yentze, a low-lying district at the foot of mountains some 80 kilometers west of Chengchow, in the early morning of July 9.

When the Lunghai train passed by Yentze on the morning of July 9, the reports state, passengers saw that the town was still in deep water, with only the tops of telegraph poles and wall towers visible above water.

A set of emergency measures to cope with the present flood situation along the Yangtze River has been suggested by Mr. Chin Fen, Secretary General of the National Economic Council, who has just returned here from an inspection trip along the various river ports, especially the Yentze region.

Firstly, Mr. Chin said, it is important that the various provincial governments should direct the local officials and inhabitants to work together in flood prevention. It is advisable that high government officials should personally make frequent inspections and give directions.

FURTHER STEPS

Secondly, Mr. Chin said, where flow of water at a breach is heavy, it is not necessary to effect immediate repairs to the breach itself, but rather efforts should be directed to the strengthening of the both sides of the gap. This will prevent the widening of the

If Gossip We Must

(BY WIRELESS)

There was a general Exodus in search of "cooling air" consequent on the extreme heat during the week-end. The beaches were crowded with holiday-makers and since the sun was doing its best to add to our discomfort, the result was that all the lovelies who went out bathing have been very tanned. On Saturday a large number of people went out on launch picnics and these included parties from the Y.M.C.A. and St. Andrew's Club in addition to many private parties. At Shek-O (or Island Bay, whichever way you prefer it), there was hardly any room left on the beach as there were so many tents put up. This place is fast becoming the most popular bathing resort, while Big Wave Bay is perhaps only next in demand to Clear Water Bay insofar as launch outings are concerned. Then there were many moonlight parties, and isn't it agreed that they are usually the best?

THE LIDO

We have now had two weeks to judge whether the Lido would get all the support it deserves, and from what I saw during my two outings there (both on Saturday afternoons) I have no doubt but that the public are grateful to the management for providing this pleasure pavilion for their use.

On Saturday there were a large number of people out there—some went as early as almost immediately after lunch, and stayed till late in the night. I saw Mr. Li Tse-fong of the Bank of East Asia and a party of friends and walking along the sands I met Miss Helen Yu while Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam was also there. The Chinese community were well represented indeed for I also saw Mr. Sum Pak-ming while a little later I ran in to Mr. H. M. Siu, the architect and Mr. L. G. Frost, that most popular and successful Hong Kong ruler, who from 1929 to 1933 was champion jockey, leads the field again this year by a comfortable margin, having 32 wins, 15 seconds and 13 thirds already to his credit. It is a curious fact that while every other major Hong Kong Classic has fallen into his hands, the coveted "Derby" has up to the present eluded him.

Mr. S. V. Gittins was with pretty Eva Tam. Of course there were many pretty Chinese ladies there too and I could not help drawing a mental comparison between the modern Chinese miss of to-day and her sister of two decades ago. To be seen in the public then was quite a daring thing, but to-day Miss China parades along the beach just the same as her Western sisters do, in the latest backless bathing costumes, and she is so "at home" about everything too!

Yesterday the Chinese Bank had a staff outing and took two of the cabins for that purpose. Dr. L.

EVER POPULAR RENDEZVOUS

Despite the intense heat on Saturday night the crowd were loyal to the Hotel so that there were many people dancing to the strains of the excellent music supplied by the Hotel orchestra. There were only a few people early in the evening but as the night wore on the crowd kept on increasing and the room was soon packed. I saw Mr. Ritchie of Messrs. Palmer & Turner's while L. O'Brien, R.N. was another to catch my eye. Mr. Higazi was there too while the Talkoo Docks was very well represented, several people from "the other end of the town" coming up for the occasion.

It was indeed much too hot for dancing but somehow we just forgot the weather when we are in the Grill Room and it was a very hot and tired but happy crowd that left the Hotel when we were told that "like all good people we had to go home to bed."

Kowloon were not to be outdone for they also had their own show in the form of a dance in the Peninsula Hotel and though I have to confess I was not there, I understand that it was a jolly good show.

THE U.S.C.

The renovations at this popular club having been completed the members celebrated the occasion in a fitting manner on Saturday night when an excellent dinner was served. Before that the band from the East Lanes rendered a delightful programme of music and as it was a very hot and dry night, lemon squashes (and others) were in great demand and I thought the clinking of the glasses, was a very appropriate accompaniment to the music!

Suffering from food poisoning, three Chinese males, Ng Lam Kee, Ng Yin, and Ng Yiu, were admitted to the Kowloon Hospital on Friday night. After finishing their evening meal they suddenly fell ill. According to one of the men, they bought some cuttlefish a few months ago, and cooked some of it with the melon they usually eat with their meal. The fish is suspected to be the cause of their sudden illness. The three are reported to be progressing favourably.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S "NEW DEAL"

Government Reasons For Rejecting Proposals

WHOLESALE CONDEMNATION

London, July 21.

The Government's reasons for rejecting Mr. Lloyd George's "New Deal" proposals are given in detail in a sixteen thousand word statement giving their considered reply on all points described in Mr. Lloyd George's proposals on "broad generalisations."

Asserting that in certain instances the proposals might actually affect adversely the progress already made towards national recovery, the statement says that the general purpose of Mr. Lloyd George's plan is the same as the Government's, but the question is whether his method is well-conceived.

Finance need be no obstacle to any sound, solid scheme, says the statement, but the proposed prosperity loan of £250,000,000 would involve serious financial dislocations and be deflationary in effect.

The statement described Mr. Lloyd George's estimates of possible reduction in unemployment as highly speculative and says that no real weight can be attached to them.

There are no details and no estimates in his public works proposals. It is a misconception to suppose that a vast quantity of hitherto, undiscovered work capable of giving employment to large numbers lies waiting to be put in hand.

Dealing with the agricultural proposals which the statement describes as the core of Mr. Lloyd George's plan, the statement says that they are a hazardous and uncertain adventure which could be achieved if at all only at the cost of great artificially created increase in the price of food and grave injury to Empire trade and relations, with intensified difficulties for the export trade and unemployment for the industrial population.

VAGUE PROPOSALS
As regards the industrial reorganisation proposals, the statement asserts that these are vague and will not decrease unemployment.

His overseas trade suggestions are disappointing and add little of value to what has been achieved.

The proposals for public works programme produce no new and good suggestions, while the proposals for a National Development Board and specially a small Cabinet would divorce the policy from the administration and are unacceptable.

The statement contends that Mr. Lloyd George's suggestions in regard to Russia ignore the fundamental development in that country.

CHINA SUGGESTIONS
Referring to his suggestions in regard to China, it says that the agricultural proposals would exclude more than one-third of China's exports to Britain and the statement points out that the question of possible action to assist China is confined to assisting the attention of the Government in common with other interested powers.

The statement mentions the appointment of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross and says that some expansion in trade with China can be hoped for, but the situation is such that Mr. Lloyd George in speaking of unlimited room in its expansion can only be said to ignore hard facts in the case as it actually stands to-day.

The statement concludes that the work done and contemplated by the Government at least shows that there is a practical alternative to Mr. Lloyd George's proposals.

NEW MEASURES IN DANZIG

Salaries And Poor Relief

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, July 21, 7.30 p.m.

Danzig, July 21.
The salaries of all the State employees will be paid in two instalments as from August 1 onwards according to an order made by the Danzig Senate under "the law for relieving distress in the state and nation." This measure which is stated to be of a provisional nature also applies to payments made by persons receiving poor relief.

Serious anxiety is also being caused by the financial situation of health insurance societies. The critical position is primarily due to the high expenditure resulting from the prevalence of illness during 1934 when nearly one quarter of the insured persons claimed benefits.

The commissioner for health insurance therefore engaged an expert on health insurance from Germany whose proposals aim at reorganising the Danzig health insurance on the same lines as it has been carried out in Germany. The regulations concerning the amount of medicines to be dispensed will be revised, economies made in the administration, and the number of persons to be admitted to hospital limited.

PEPPER IMPORT DUTY

Move To Release Holding

London, July 20.

Rumours are current in the city that the Government will be asked to impose a heavy import duty on pepper, thus enabling the Pepper Pool, which took up 20,000 tons during the pepper and shellac troubles, to dispose of its holdings. It is understood that the stock of the Pool is at present 18,000 tons.

The new crop of pepper is now selling unofficially at 42d per pound as compared with 9d at which the Pool took over the stock.

It is considered most unlikely that the Government will take action. It is pointed out that pepper is now most difficult to sell in London, which is probably the result of new supplies being shipped elsewhere.

Many believe that the current unremunerative prices will lead the producers to ask the Netherlands Indies Government to impose some form of restriction as a sharp reduction in the output would enable the Pool's holdings to be liquidated more quickly, thus rendering a more economic price possible.

ABYSSINIAN EMPEROR'S SPEECH

Causes Grave Concern In Italy

Rome, July 20.

Rumours that Italy had broken off her diplomatic relations with Abyssinia were denied by authoritative quarters on Saturday evening, but it is officially announced that the Italian Minister in Addis Ababa has verbally protested against Emperor Haile Selassie's speech before the Parliament and he informed the Abyssinian Government that the Italian Government are reserving further decisions.

A statement emanating from authoritative quarters stresses with special emphasis that the Emperor's speech created a grave situation and that a serious view was taken here of the speech owing to its contents as well as its violent tone.

It is claimed that the speech was even more violent in the original Amharic text than in the French translation handed to the foreign Press correspondents in Addis Ababa.

The Press maintains that any remaining prospects for a peaceful settlement of the dispute has been jeopardised by this speech.—Transocean Kuo Min.

OVERLORDSHIP RESENTED

Addis Ababa, July 20.

A categorical announcement of the intention "to refuse any solution involving an Italian or other protectorate or mandate impairing the independence, sovereignty or freedom of our people" was made by the Emperor of Ethiopia in a statement to Reuter's special correspondent.

He said he was confident in the justice of their cause, knowing that the Government had not omitted and would omit no effort to secure a peaceful settlement. They would resist the expected attack with determination.

The Emperor complained that other nations placed an embargo on arms for Ethiopia, rendering more difficult the task of defending her soil against foreign aggression, but they had not lost hope that a way would be found by the signatories of the Kellogg Pact to avoid a demonstration to the world that the pact was only an expression of a pious hope, which might be disregarded by any nation moved by a spirit of self-interest.

We confidently await the decisions of the League, because we are confident that our cause is just and must prevail." the Emperor concluded.

BRITISH EFFORTS

These efforts will certainly be continued until success is achieved or until the matter comes before the League Council. In the latter event it is hoped that Italy, as well as Abyssinia, will be prepared to submit a full and complete statement in order that the Council shall be fully informed upon all the facts in the case.

Members of the Council have been asked to hold themselves in readiness to attend a meeting which may be summoned at the end of the month.

LEAGUE COMMUNIQUE

Geneva, July 19.

A somewhat curiously worded communique was issued to-day by the League Secretariat, which is interpreted to mean that arrangements are now complete for a meeting of the League Council, possibly on July 23 or 24, to consider the whole Italo-Abyssinian problem.

It is anticipated that Abyssinia will raise the question of Italy's warlike preparations and Italy's action in obtaining from certain Governments a promise of an arms embargo against Abyssinia.

It will probably be claimed that there can be no justification for such discrimination against a member nation of the League and it is believed that the question should be submitted to the Hague Court of International Justice.

On the other hand it is considered probable that Italy will voice her grievances against Abyssinia and make definite charges and suggestions.

ITALIAN REPORTS

Rome, July 19.

Italian newspapers to-day published reports from London to the effect that Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador at Rome, has been instructed to ask the Italian Government if it is prepared to make a detailed documentary statement of its case with respect to Abyssinia to be placed before the League of Nations.

Well-informed Italian circles state that up to the moment no such request has been made of the Italian Government.

It is understood that the Italian Government has been sounded upon whether it will discuss the Italo-Abyssinian question with the British and French Governments on the basis of the 1906 treaty dealing with the rights of Abyssinia and the European nations with interests adjoining that territory.

CONFERENCE UNLIKELY
It is believed that if such discussions are instituted they will be of a diplomatic character, but a general conference is most unlikely.

The Italian Government, it is understood, is most anxious to avoid being drawn into any kind of compromise settlement which would not give to it military and advisory control in Abyssinia.

GREAT SILVER JUBILEE REVIEW

Massed Gathering Of All Police Forces

London, July 20.

The last of the great Silver Jubilee reviews was held in London to-day. It was the first Royal Review of Britain's Police and only occasion on which unarmed forces of the Crown had been gathered together in such large numbers for any purposes whatever.

Altogether eight thousand representatives of the Police Forces of England, Wales and Scotland were gathered in Hyde Park, contingents having come from 181 county, city and borough forces in England and Wales and 48 forces in Scotland. All branches of Police services were represented including Scotland Yard detectives, mounted police, special constables, women police, flying squad, cars and wireless vans.

Many of the four thousand provincial police officers had brought their families with them to London for the event which was without precedent since the present police system was established over a hundred years ago.

When His Majesty the King accompanied by the Queen drove from Buckingham Palace to Hyde Park, the route was lined by two thousand Metropolitan Police and special constables. Their Majesties having received a Royal salute from the parade entered an open carriage and drove through lines of officers. Afterwards led by Lord Trenchard, Commissioner of Metropolitan Police, the parade marched past the King in columns of eight.

SERIOUS RIOTS IN LAHORE

The Muslims, maddened by religious fervour by a week's dissension with the Sikhs over the latter's demolition of an old mosque, are now resorting to passive resistance and refuse to disperse, despite the arrest of 300 of their number.

Air Force planes are at present circling over the town and troops are standing by.

Altogether ten were killed and many injured in the riots. The whole area is strewn with bricks and stones with which the mob kept up a barrage.

The Bowls results on Saturday turned out very much as expected with the exception of the win by the "wooden spoonists" the K.C.C. over the Police by 22 shots. The K.C.C. incidentally, brought off the only "double" of the day, their junior winning at the expense of the Police at home.

There were no possibilities of 7's scored, although L. Guy's Bowling Green rink, F. X. Soares' Recreio four, J. Cavanagh's Craigengower quartette and A. Macfarlane's Football Club four all secured 6's.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

In the course of the present week several very interesting ties will be decided in the Open Singles Lawn Bowls competition, the most interesting of which would be the match between A. M. Holland and E. A. Arculli.

The Cullen and Hyde-Lay match should also provide bowls of a high standard while the Bradbury-C. G. Silva game will have a very important bearing on the ultimate result of the competition.

The Open pairs should result in victories for the C.C.C. pair against S. Ecclesham and J. Shepherd while the Silvas are favoured against the Duncans.

The full programme for the week is as follows:

TUESDAY	Singles
T. Armstrong v. H. A. Alves (R. C.C.)
H. Overy v. W. McLeod (K. Docks)
G. N. Mitchell v. J. V. Ramsay (Recreio)
Pairs
L. A. R. Duncan and R. Duncan v. F. X. Silva and C. G. Silva (Civil Service)
WEDNESDAY	Singles
A. M. Holland v. E. A. Arculli (Civil Service)

THE TENNIS LEAGUE

Revised Fixtures

The revised tennis fixtures list for this week provides for a full programme and if there is no rain some decidedly good games should be seen.

Owing to a misunderstanding the mixed doubles game between the U.S.R.C. and the C.R.C. was not played off last week and due to the revised fixtures this game will not be possible owing to the Chinese being unable to muster enough players on account of their other fixtures.

To-morrow the K.C.C. "A" should encounter little difficulty in overcoming their "B" in the only mixed doubles game of the week.

The fixtures for the "A" Division for to-morrow promise good tennis in almost every game. The U.S.R.C.-Indians match should be interesting enough while the H.K.C.C.-K.C.C. game should also be worth watching.

The following are this week's fixtures:

DAVIS CUP TENNIS

America Given Good Start

London, July 20.

Donald Budge gave America a good start in the Inter-Zone Davis Cup Final at Wimbledon to-day when he beat Heinrich Henkel of Germany in four sets, 7-5, 11-9, 8-8, 6-1.

It was a match of streaks and patches with the American scoring an anticipated victory. Budge, however, failed to live up to expectations until the fourth set, when he electrified the gallery by sweeping to victory for the loss of only one game. It was all over in 12 minutes. During this set he revealed that controlled speed which took him into the semi-finals in the recent Wimbledon Championships.

Both youngsters seemed nervous though Budge made numerous spectacular winners. Taking the game all round, however, there were periods of very mediocre play, in which the contestants lacked both control and length, which was quite unworthy of the occasion.

BASELINE BATTLE

Henkel fought a very dour battle from the baseline, relying wholly on retrieving the wide-rung drives of his opponent to both corners, and scoring on the American's mistakes. The German was inclined to lack initiative and allowed Budge to dictate terms in a match in which both produced stylish drives and well-balanced serving, and in which both players showed a preference for the backhand. Budge was speedier in all departments and was deadly in his smashing at the net.

CRAWFORD WINS

Jack Crawford beat "Bunny" Austin 6-2, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.
Crawford was in his best form and there were many long rallies in which he made some unplayable cross-court drives.
Australia thus obtained the winning lead of three matches to one. McGrath won the first set at 6-2, and Perry the second at 6-2. The match was then abandoned owing to rain.

RAIN INTERFERES

Rain caused a postponement of the match between Von Cramm and Allison. The game will be played on Monday, the doubles on Tuesday, and the remaining two singles on Wednesday.

Scores:
C. S. File and G. Carruthers (P.R.C.) drew with J. R. Luke and F. D. Pereira 6-6 beat S. MacNider and E. MacNider 6-0 lost to A. M. Omar and M. el Arculli 4-6
A. R. S. Major and S. G. Smith (P.R.C.) drew with Luke and Pereira 6-6 beat Omar and Arculli 6-1
beat MacNider and MacNider 6-0
lost to Luke and Pereira 4-6
beat MacNider and MacNider 6-3
lost to Omar and Arculli 2-6

RECREIO WIN THEIR RINK MATCHES

Craigengower The Victims

An exceptionally large crowd turned out at the Bowling Green yesterday afternoon to witness the quarter final open rink lawn bowls championship between the C.C.C. four composed of J. Cavanagh, R. W. Bradbury, H. Beer, U. M. Omar and the Recreio four composed of J. E. Noronha, C. E. Marques, F. X. M. da Silva and C. G. Silva.

The gathering was not disappointed so far as the standard of bowls was concerned. Exchanges were very even until almost the last head when the Recreio four emerged winners by 18 shots to 13, thanks to the good work put in by F. X. M. da Silva. Categorical speaking there was very little to choose between the two rinks. All four players indulged with some clever bowling.

Cavanagh was somewhat overshadowed by Noronha who played his best game to date as No. 1. He had Cavanagh covered for the greater part of the game and thanks to his placings the foundations of Recreio's points were laid.

Bradbury had slightly the better advantage over Marques when it came to laying shots. He was on the whole quite reliable and his draws on many an occasion left Marques guessing.

F. X. Silva Great But the best man was Recreio's No. 3, F. X. M. da Silva who gave his skip all the support that was required to attain the success.

Beer was not himself on the day's play. He did not impress me as being comfortable against Silva and moreover he left quite a good deal of work to his skip.

Of the two skips there being very little to choose. Omar had more to do than Silva. The foundations laid by Silva's men left him little to add to their good work whereas Omar had to draw as well as to block the good shots already set up by the opposing players.

THE PLAY

Recreio were lying one when Bradbury came in with a two. Their No. 3 opened the draw but C. G. Silva shifted the jack to give C.C.C. a three.

On the second head after F. X. Silva had put in the shot Omar moved the jack to give the C.C.C. one shot but C. G. Silva was equal to the occasion to trail the jack to return with a four.

On the third head, after Beer had drawn in the second shot Omar tried to open the game but was unsuccessful. Recreio however, remained with the single shot.

This head saw Beer back to form. He was lying one when Omar came through to push his own wood for a three.

Noronha and Marques laid well. Beer tried to trail but was not successful. Omar tried to block but met with no success. C.C.C. had the first shot when C. G. Silva brought in his last wood to rest on the jack to give the Recreio one shot.

C.C.C. LEAD

Good work was put in by Noronha on the 6th head. With three shots lying C. G. Silva pushed the C.C.C. wood up to give them one shot. On the next head the C.C.C. came in with another shot to lead the Recreio by eight shots to six.

Brilliant bowling was once more in evidence when, thanks to C. G. Silva, Recreio were able to snatch one point.

Recreio were lying four on the 9th head. Omar with his last wood took the jack away but the shot still remained with Recreio.

BRADBURY ROBBED Bradbury was lying two beautiful shots but F. X. M. da Silva came in with the first shot.

Omar came back with the first shot but C. G. Silva with his last wood rested on the jack to give them a single. Recreio were lying five on the 11th head. Omar's first wood came in for the third shot. His second wood took away Recreio's first shot to allow the C.C.C. to draw level at 9 all.

On the 12th head good work by F. X. M. da Silva enabled the Recreio to lead once more by one shot. On the very next Beer was lying two. Then C. G. Silva took Beer's wood out and then Recreio were lying two. Omar managed to push his own wood up to obtain the single shot.

On the 14th head Recreio got two shots and on the 15th, thanks to Bradbury, C.C.C. reduced the deficit to one.

The 16th head saw C.C.C. lying 4. F. X. Silva displaced Beer's shots. Omar drove and C.C.C. were lying two shots. C. G. Silva tried to emulate Omar but missed thereby allowing C.C.C. two shots.

With this score 13 shots to 12 in favour of C.C.C. excitement

TENNIS IN SHANGHAI

Two Doubles Matches

Shanghai, July 14.

The exhibition matches played on the S.L.T.A. Courts yesterday, as a preliminary to the exhibitions to be given next week-end between the visiting Japanese players and those of this city, saw some interesting tennis. In the first match played H. Collaco and J. G. Forbes defeated J. F. Gotch and L. E. Stokes by 7-5; 9-7; while in the second and principal match Gordon Lum and Dud Squires were outplayed by Khoo Hooi-hye and M. Benavitch by 3-6; 6-3; 6-3.

Opening in the blazing sun, of 3.30 p.m. yesterday, Collaco and Forbes met with heavy opposition from Gotch and Stokes. For each game taken, a successful reply was given, until the score stood at five all. The steadier combination of Collaco and Forbes gave them the two set games. The second set was even more closely contested than the first, and the losers were able to record love games on occasions in their favour, but their opponents nevertheless rallied after each defeat to take the lead again, ultimately winning by 9 to 7.

In the winning combination, Collaco seemed the steadier and more reliable player, putting in consistent first class cross court play, and placing to his advantage with each opportunity. Forbes, on the other hand, while an excellent all round man, did not play with the same consistency as his partner, which remark applies to Gotch of the losing couple. Stokes played a splendid game and excelled with his net work.

MAIN ATTRACTION

The main attraction of the exhibition was the match between Gordon Lum and Dud Squires against Khoo Hooi-hye and M. Benavitch, in which the latter took the honours, after losing the first set 3-6, by turning the tables on the Lum and Squires combination in both the following sets by 6-3.

The opening of this match saw Lum up to his usual form, with a steady and unaffected partner in Squires, who on many occasions drew applause for his good work. Their opponents, Khoo Hooi-hye and M. Benavitch did not seem to blend at all well in the first set and went down by 6-3. The second set, however, told a different story. Khoo Hooi-hye seemed to have warmed up to his game while Benavitch too worked up to his usual high standard. Even play was to be witnessed up till the first four games of the second set, when Khoo Hooi-hye and Benavitch gradually drew away until the score stood at 5 sets to 2 in their favour. Here Lum and Squires put in a rally in an endeavour to hold off the conclusion of the game. They were successful in adding another point to their score, but went down in the following game and their opponents took the set.

With one set each, the third set took on the atmosphere of determination as both couples decided to go full out for the honours. Even play was witnessed for the first six games which were divided in three games all, but from this point onwards, Khoo Hooi-hye and Benavitch drew away to take the set and match.

AN EXPERIENCED CAMPAIGNER

Prof. Graham Kerr

(Special Air Mail Service)

(Glasgow, July 2.)

Prof. Graham Kerr, the victor in the Scottish Universities by-election, has had a wide experience of Conservative politics.

He started as President of the Glasgow University Conservative Association, extended his activities to embrace the chairmanship of the City Association, and then became convenor of the Western Divisional Council.

After that he entered national politics as president of the Scottish Unionist Association. He thus has an experience of every kind of local, academic and national politics to take south with him to Westminster.

National Government supporters will be heartened by the figures. Mrs. Mitchison, the Socialist candidate, has polled 500 votes fewer than the Socialist did against a Liberal in a by-election last year.

NO SWING BACK

Since 1915 the electors have, with unfailing regularity, returned two Conservatives and a Liberal for this three-member seat. The same complicated system of proportional representation obtains as in other University elections.

By a tacit understanding, if there is a Liberal vacancy only a Liberal runs against Socialism—as in last year's by-election. If there is a Conservative vacancy—as in 1927, when Mr. Buchan succeeded Sir Henry Craik—only a Conservative is put up against the Socialists.

In 1929 the Conservative vote on the first count—the real criterion—was only 15,700, the Liberal 6,800 and the Socialist 2,600. On the final count, with the addition of "transferred" Liberal votes, the total Conservative vote was 19,221.

It looks, therefore, as if the Scottish Universities was one of the few constituencies where the law of the swing of the pendulum does not operate.

BOROTRA BEATEN IN GREAT MATCHGrim Struggle Against Menzel

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.

Sunshine returned to Wimbledon bringing with it enormous crowds and—piece de resistance of the day—a magnificent five-set match between Roderich Menzel and Jean Borotra on the centre court, writes a correspondent.

In the end, after a grim and fluctuating battle of 58 games, of which 20 were contested in the final bout, the Czech champion got home.

He was within two points of defeat at one critical stage, and at scarcely any point, considering the fighting quality of both men, was the issue signalled in advance.

Borotra has been the darling of the centre court gallery for more than a decade, and 15,000 spectators cheered their favourite again. He deserved their salute, for he was fighting not only against a great player, with a heart nearly as large as his own, but against the handicap of age.

Borotra was conceding eight years to an adversary who possessed a service stronger than his own, retaining its speed to the end, and whose experience of a turf court was confined to a dozen matches.

If the famous black beret is never seen in singles again on the centre court, its owner may rest content; never in his hey-day has he made such a gallant effort.

Borotra's finale in singles at Autell, on his home courts, where rallies are longer and more exhausting, was to defeat both Vines and Allison in the Davis Cup. His great match with Menzel, although he lost it in the end, would be a fitting climax to his singles career at Wimbledon.

The struggle lasted two hours and 20 minutes and there was never a dull moment in it. About it was the same clash of personality, the same intensive play, the same dramatic fervour that one saw in the Borotra-Tilden match 1930.

MENZEL'S STRATEGY

The resemblance was heightened in that Menzel has the towering stature of the American and a good deal of his arrogant service power; his ground strokes had not Tilden's technique; the Czech uses more top-spin on his drive on both wings.

But the heavy task of subjugating the inspired Basque, volleying with superb daring and dexterity in the final stages and seeming to have a moral claim to victory by virtue of his courage, was conducted with the same cool calculation and with much the same strategy.

The amazing feature was that after each man had captured two sets—Borotra the first and fourth and Menzel the second and third—and wear and tear should have told its tale, the standard of play in the final set was the highest in the long encounter.

THRILLING CLIMAX

There was no sign of physical decay or nervous friction; the match went forward to its palpitating climax, with the two rivals, as it were, conspiring together to produce the thrilling thrust and the still more thrilling counter.

This was the kind of lawn tennis that Wimbledon loves, and by which its popular appeal has been built up—the match in which nobody "dies" until the very end and then instantly revives to salute his conqueror.

I had better come to the fifth set at once, for the other four, although full of good tennis—especially the fourth, in which a seemingly spent Borotra astonished both his opponent and the crowd by his energy and resource—were only the prelude to the crowning act.

Menzel got an early break of the service to lead two-love. He had wisely increased his pressure when Borotra was reacting after his tour de force in the fourth set.

Then, to prove that his lungs were thoroughly loyal, Borotra was up again, a prince of volleyers, to square the set. He broke through Menzel's service to love, returning service in this game better than he had done in any previous game.

BRILLIANT VOLLEYS

They were level again at 3-all. Borotra netted an easy smash to lose the fifth; he made some amazing low volleys, almost somersaulting in the act, to gain the sixth.

Then the Basque held his own service from 15—a brilliant line shot fell off the chalk, Menzel lobbed out, and Borotra hurried himself at a rising ball to score a dazzling volley. Four-three, with the Tricolour flying proudly.

But Menzel had his service to even the score again. Borotra took the ninth from 15 to lead again; he had a net-cord to aid him.

Now was his chance to clinch the match with a storming charge. He took it, sound general that he is but slipped, and Menzel, standing firm and never losing heart or aim, kept the struggle alive.

They swayed—first one and the other getting in front, only to be pulled back—for the next 10 games. Virtually a sixth set was contested. Borotra led at 6-5, 7-6 and 9-8; Menzel at 8-7 and 10-9.

TWO LOVE GAMES

To indicate how each was braced in turn to save the vital games whipping his will to succour a tiring body, it is only necessary to mention the love game which Menzel scored to check Borotra at 7-6, and the love game which his adversary won to counter Menzel's love game that had carried him forward to 8-7.

At last it was seen that the younger man's service, retaining its speed for the last crisis, was going to carry him home. He had made some beautiful passing shots, circumventing Borotra, in the 19th game.

Borotra would have given his beret for another foot of territory at this moment. In the 20th game piercing services took the Czech to 40-15. He looked to have won when Borotra's drive hit the top of the net. But the ball "scrambled over the top," like a puff. It was Borotra's last point. He netted after a fierce and final rally.

CABINET IN
GREECENew Ministers
Installed

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Athens, July 20.

The Cabinet crisis ended yesterday evening when M. Tsaldaris, presented to President Zaimis a list of the new Ministers, who immediately afterwards took the oath of office.

The consultations which preceded the formation of the new Cabinet had resulted in the strengthening of the position of General Kondylis, especially since the army had let it be known that it would insist on General Kondylis retaining his post of Minister of War.

PREMIER TSALDARIS

In these circumstances it was decided merely to reconstruct the Cabinet by dropping those Ministers whose antagonism to General Kondylis had brought about the crisis.

The following are the members of the new Cabinet:—

Minister of Social Welfare: M. Sayas;

Minister of Aviation: M. Nicolaidis;

Minister of Economic Affairs: M. Kartalis;

Minister of Justice: M. Roamnos;

Minister of Agriculture: M. Theodorides.

All the other Ministers retain their posts.

It is not yet clear whether the Cabinet's monarchist tendencies have been strengthened by the reconstruction.

ALARMING RUMOURS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Athens, July 19.

The dissension which has arisen within the cabinet over the question of the restoration of the monarchy led on Friday to the collective resignation of Tsaldaris Govt., after War Minister Kondylis and the Minister of Agriculture, Theodorides had threatened to resign owing to the premier's refusal to commit himself on the question of the restoration.

Since all efforts to induce these two ministers to reconsider their decisions proved unavailing, the Premier insisted on a collective resignation.

President Zaimis commissioned Tsaldaris to form a new Government. The eventual changes in the cabinet will probably throw some light on the much debated question whether the Plebscite originally fixed for November 15 will be held as per schedule or put off for the time being.

The cabinet crisis gave rise to many alarming rumours, Kondylis being for instance credited with the intention to carry out the restoration by force and with the aid of the Commander of the A. Fleet, General Keppas and Chief of Staff of the Navy Admiral Economoff.

These rumours, however, were discounted by informed circles.

The prevailing nervous tension, however, is such that Tsaldaris saw it fit to announce on Friday afternoon that measures have been taken in order to "nip in the bud" any attempt to create dissension.

MONARCHIST MAJORITY

Athens, July 19.

The Greek Cabinet has been reformed and the result is unquestionably a victory for the monarchist party who are striving for the return of King George to the throne of the realm.

It was at first feared that the Cabinet would resign. But after conversations, this evening between Premier Tsaldaris and General Kondylis, the War Minister, it seemed certain that the Hongkong, July 20.

Messrs. G. A. Harriman and Co's weekly share report and market review issued at noon on Saturday states:—

Dairy Farms changed hands at the slightly reduced rate of $15.80. Minor issues were again easier. Hotels were on offer at $3.85 and Cements at $4. China Lights changed hands in small scrips at $8.50 with further buyers at this figure. Sterling counters were rather quiet, but there were some enquiries for Hongkong Banks at around $1020. The market closes dull in all sections. Business during the week has been done at the following prices:—

BERLIN BOURSE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, July 19.
The whole of the share market on Friday was strongly influenced by the heavy decline of the Hamburg Amerika Norddeutscher Lloyd shares which again were not officially quoted. The recent rumours that both companies would be reconstructed on a five to one basis were revived so that a great quantity of stock came onto the market, the quotations for private transactions being far below the official prices realised on Wednesday last.

The result was that the other shares were treated by investors with great caution and restricted demand, leading to further price declines.

Fixed interest securities were erratic but Gold Mortgage Bonds were friendly.

Call Money rose from 2 1/2 to 3. Young Loan was unquoted, but on Thursday was at 104. Reichsbank advanced 1 to 103. Dreyfus sprang better to 152 1/2. Salzedturm Potash dropped 1 to 197. German Steel Trusts weakened 1 to 89 1/2, and German Mineral Oils was unchanged.

MILK MARKETING SCHEME

London, July 19.
A poll of registered producers under the milk marketing scheme, which has been in operation since the autumn of 1933, to decide whether or not the scheme shall be ended by revocation, as provided for in the Act, will take place between August 3 and 15.

The poll was recently suggested by the Chairman of the Milk Marketing Board, in view of criticisms of the Board's policy by some producers. The necessary petition has been presented by supporters of the scheme, who are anxious that a decision should be reached as far as possible in advance of the next contract period, in order to strengthen the Board in the event of the favourable verdict anticipated in its negotiations with distributors and factories.

SCOTTISH ADMINISTRATION

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 2.
A further important step in the decentralisation of Scottish administration from the Scottish Office in London to Edinburgh is shortly to be taken, it is understood, by Sir Godfrey Collins, Secretary of State. What has already been done in that direction has given highly satisfactory results, as not only has closer contact been established between the Government and local authorities, but business generally has been discharged with greater expedition than in the past, and not infrequently considerable economy in local expenditure has been made possible. The new step affects the Education Department, the intention being to transfer the staff in charge of the leaving certificate examination, the continuation classes, the primary schools and advanced divisions, the special schools, the employment of children, and the grants to local authorities.

TRANSFER OF OFFICERS

Already there are in Edinburgh 83 officers of the Education Department, and under this new proposal a further 44 will be detached from the London staff. This will leave at the Scottish Office in Whitehall only 20 of the original staff that dealt with educational matters. The Office of Works is now engaged in negotiating for suitable premises in Edinburgh for the accommodation of the additional staff, who are expected to travel north to their new quarters in October. The Secretary of State believes that these transfers will facilitate still further the work of educational administration in Scotland. So far as the ultimate housing of the Scottish Government staff in Edinburgh is concerned, it is now expected that work on the new headquarters on Calton Hill will be started in November.

GERMAN ASIATIC BANK RESULTS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)
Berlin, July 20.
The annual report and profit and loss account submitted to a board meeting of the German Asiatic Bank showed that the continued world depression and the prevailing currency difficulties had adversely influenced the extent of the bank's business in the past year.

The profit amounted to 4,616 yuan, out of which the statutory dividends on the preference shares will be paid. The balance will be carried forward, so that again no dividends will be forthcoming on the ordinary shares.
